Poetry Open Mic Night with Special Guest Poet

Wild Atlanta by Stephen Wing
Photographer Luz Wright

For over a decade, Stephen has been exploring the city's many hidden pockets of wild nature with a group of fellow poets. These poems offer a sampling of the riches he has found there – treasures worth preserving as the city expands its footprint of concrete and powerlines.

Photographer Luz Wright has captured portraits of the magical places depicted in Wing's poems through the unique perspective of her lens.

We welcome poets, performers, and spectators of all ages to join us. The 7pm to 8pm hour features family-friendly material. Bring your children, or grand-children, or grandmother.

The tone shifts from 8pm to 9pm and includes more adult-themed topics.

Book Signing: Libertarian Paganism: Freedom and Responsibility in Nature-Based Spirituality Logan Albright

Paganism and libertarianism might seem like odd choices to bring together in a single book. One is a broad set of nature-centric religious and spiritual practices, while the other is a fairly narrow political philosophy focusing on personal freedom and responsibility. But as a member of both communities, author Logan Albright has been unable to shake the feeling that they actually have more in common than most people realize.

Libertarian Paganism posits that there is a fundamental sympathy between these two apparently unrelated belief systems; and that a set of shared values might attract politically homeless pagans to libertarianism, or spiritually homeless libertarians to paganism. These values include respect for the individual, the importance of consent, the freedom to express views which are out of the mainstream, tolerance, and inclusion, and a healthy skepticism towards the powerful. Libertarian paganism is, in Albright's experience, a way of life that is both personally empowering and deeply ethical, two qualities towards which the author likes to think we are all striving.
