

"Reverie, a life open to magic moments" - Honoring the life and art of Richard G. Johnson

In a world where everyday interactions often pass unnoticed, there existed a man whose life was a tapestry of magic moments. His presence was a grounding force, providing stability and warmth to those fortunate enough to know him. A man of poetry and music, he transcended the ordinary through his passions and connections with others.

A Man of Poetry and Music

With a heart that beats to the rhythm of life, he was a percussionist who found harmony in the company of friends and loved ones. He displayed a love for music, including jazz, classical and musical oddities.

A Journey Through States

His life's journey took him through the diverse landscapes of Florida, Georgia, and upstate New York. Each place has left its imprint, enriching his experiences and broadening his perspective.

The Friendly Quipster

Always ready with a quip and a friendly hello, he embodied an approachable charm that drew people in. His ability to connect with just about anyone, regardless of background or circumstance, was a testament to his inclusive and open-hearted nature. The simple act of raising a toast to every nice thing was more than a gesture; it was a celebration of life's small joys and the connections that make life meaningful.

A Soul of the Artistic Era

In another time, he would have been right at home in the Paris of Picasso's era—a period rich in artistic and intellectual exploration. His appreciation for creativity and innovation echoes the spirit of that age, where art and ideas flowed freely, and lives were enriched by the exchange of thoughts and expressions.

Here's to Magic Moments

So, here's to a life filled with magic moments—a life where poetry and music, friendship and laughter, create a symphony of experiences. It was a life that celebrates the art of living, finding beauty in the everyday and joy in the shared journey. Here's to a man who not only lived these moments but also shared them, leaving an indelible mark on the hearts of those he encountered.

Enjoy the art of Richard G. Johnson in our "Gallery" the entire month of April.
